

CivicOS Institute — Foundation Prospectus (One-Page)

West Palm Beach, Florida

Contact: Nicholas A. Cerbone, Director • NCerbone@civicos-institute.org

What We Do

CivicOS Institute builds practical civic participation pathways that help residents and community groups move from intent to implementation. We combine local engagement programming, operational support tools, and measurable reporting.

Why It Matters

Communities face a participation gap: people care about local issues but lack clear, supported structures for sustained civic action. Small and grassroots groups often have mission clarity but limited implementation capacity.

Our Model

1. Civic Participation Activation — structured opportunities for local action
2. Community Capacity Infrastructure — workflows/tools that improve execution
3. Measurement Loop — KPI tracking + quarterly performance reviews

12-Month Outcomes (Targets)

- 300+ residents reached
- 120+ active participants
- 12+ community initiatives supported
- 8+ partner organizations engaged
- 50+ documented civic actions
- 4/4 quarterly reports delivered on time

Foundation Alignment

Strong fit for funders prioritizing: - Civic engagement and local participation - Community capacity building - Equity and access - Measurable outcomes and accountability

Funding Use

Foundation support enables: - Program facilitation and delivery - Community outreach/activation - Operational infrastructure - Evaluation and quarterly reporting - Core administrative execution capacity

Funding Pathways

- General operating/capacity support
- Program-specific grants
- Multi-year partnership structures tied to KPI milestones

Indicative request ranges: $10K–$150K+ (scoped by program stage).

Next Step

We welcome fit discussions, LOI pathways, and program officer calls.

Contact: Nicholas A. Cerbone • NCerbone@civicos-institute.org